DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-37 are pending.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-6, drawn to carbonyl reductase, classified in class 435, subclass 189.
- II. Claims 7-29, drawn to a DNA encoding reductase, vector containing said DNA, and transformant comprising thereof, classified in class 435, subclass 189.
- III. Claims 30-37, drawn to process of producing alcohol, classified in class 435, subclass 155.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

The protein of Invention I is related to the nucleic acids of Invention II by virtue of encoding the same. Although the DNA molecule and protein are related since the DNA encodes the claimed protein, they are distinct inventions. The two are physically and functionally distinct chemical entities. Also, the protein product can be made by another and materially different process, such as by synthetic peptide synthesis or purification from a natural source. Furthermore, the DNA may be used for processes other than the production of the protein, such as nucleic acid hybridization assay.

The methods of Invention II and the proteins of Invention I are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the product as claimed maybe isolated form a natural source.

Invention I and Invention III are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case alcohol can be produced by using enzymes other than carbonyl reductase, such as haloacclacetate reductase, or be produced by chemical synthesis. Furthermore, the protein of Invention I can be used for the production of antibodies.

The methods of Inventions II and III are patentably distinct as employing different products. Invention II uses DNA and Invention III uses an enzyme.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification and recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Art Unit: 1652

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a petition under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
